The Lauterpacht Centre for International Law

The Lauterpacht Link Partnership Programme, launched in 2017, gives practitioners exclusive access to people, events and research associated with the Centre in exchange for their support.

With over 40 Fellows and a community of over 1,000 Visiting Fellows from around the world, the Lauterpacht Centre for International Law is a leading centre of excellence in the field of international law.

Centre Fellows produce internationally leading and cutting-edge research in almost all areas of international law. They are globally recognised, tuned in with current affairs, and connected with governments, practitioners and scholars from all over the world.

Membership of the programme is open to law firms, barristers’ chambers, foreign ministries and major companies with an interest in international law. These LCIL Partners financially support the Centre, thereby contributing to the development of its activities.
